

IRESS Labs brings users into the software design and development process to unlock the rich functionality in XPLAN and make it more efficient, intuitive and delightful

Over 75 users from more than 50 advice firms have actively participated in IRESS Labs experiments to date.

Co-designed features already released include a refreshed and contemporary screen design, a much simpler menu structure to make navigating XPLAN simpler and quicker, and a new opportunities capability to manage the advice and review business pipeline.

More experiments on XPLAN's CRM and Advice modules are already underway.

“XPLAN is such a big and integrated part of our business, to have a hand in where it's going and work directly with the developers is great. Anyone given the opportunity to get involved should absolutely do so”

Brett Billington, Director and Adviser - Up Wealth Management

To get involved, speak with an IRESS Labs technician at the AFA Conference.
